1. What Personal Information We Collect

Type of Information

The type of information we collect and use will differ depending on the type of product or service you have with us but includes (please note that this is not an exhaustive list): name, address (including Eircode), date of birth, photo ID or any other type of ID, policy numbers, contact details (mobile number and email address for customer identification purposes), PPS number (or any other relevant tax identification numbers, if required by legislation), occupation, employment details, gender, insurance requirements including details about your home or vehicle (make and model, per example), years of residency in Ireland or the UK, driving licence details and driver number, the intended use of the vehicle (social, domestic, pleasure, commute to work or education), marketing preferences, No-Claims Bonus (NCB) details from your previous insurer to confirm your claims history when setting up your policy, bank and payment card details, records of payments and arrears, VAT and other relevant tax numbers, CCTV footage, membership status of any relevant bodies, penalty point information and Road Traffic offences, vehicle location for road assistance, telematics data, dashboard camera video footage, credit score and on-board vehicle diagnostics information. Further details of information we collect can be found under specific headings in this Data Protection Statement.

Other People's Data

As well as collecting your personal data, we may also collect and use personal information (as per list above) about other people, for example, family members you wish to insure on a policy, dependents (where relevant for suitability purposes), legal guardians (where applicable), insured persons (where different from the applicant/policyholder) family health history of insured persons, limited personal information about trustees/beneficiaries (where policies are under trust), executors, nominated representatives and attorneys (under power of attorney).

If you are providing personal information about another person in paper or electronic format or video we require you to let them know what information you've shared with us, share this data protection notice with them and ensure that they have given you permission to provide this information to us. If you or they have any concerns, please ask them to contact us in one of the ways described in this notice. Special categories of data of other's people will be processed solely if they are necessary for the provisions of a policy of insurance and for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims or whenever courts are acting in their judicial capacity.

Sensitive Information

We may ask for health information or details of past or pending offences, unspent criminal convictions or other sensitive information about the person who is being insured, their family members or any other persons associated with the insurance policy. We recognise the sensitivity of collecting this information, so we will only ask for it to arrange, manage or administer an insurance contract, handle claims, or prevent fraud. Where we process special categories of data for the purpose of a policy of insurance, we will take suitable and specific measures to safeguard the fundamental rights and freedoms of individuals.

Given the fact that data relating to health and past or pending offences, unspent criminal convictions are particularly sensitive information, we only collect and use such data as follows:

Purpose: Health data is used for the purposes of obtaining/providing quotes and providing insurance services; to assist in the administration of a policy, including fraud prevention and investigation, handling a complaint or processing a claim you may have.
Legal Basis: Irish Data Protection law permits us to use health data where we need to and where it is proportionate for the purposes of a policy of insurance.
Purpose: Past or pending offences, unspent criminal conviction data are collected and used for the purposes of obtaining/providing quotes and providing insurance services; to assist in the administration of a policy, including fraud prevention and investigation, handling a complaint or processing a claim.
Legal Basis: Performance of a contract: under which we provide insurance services and assisting in the administration of a contract (the insurance policy); and to take steps at your request before entering into a policy (e.g. obtaining/providing a quote).

We may also need to use your health and/or or details of past or pending offences, any unspent criminal convictions you and anybody else covered under your policy may have for the purposes of establishing, exercising or defending legal rights, including in connection with claims or proceedings and where authorised by law.

You do not have to provide us with any personal information, however, should you be unable to provide us with the required personal data, we will be unable to provide you with a quote, insurance or process a claim that you make.

2. How we collect your personal information

We may collect personal information about you from: you; your named driver (if you are purchasing or renewing a motor policy); joint policyholder; our intermediaries, your broker (or other representative), insured persons (where different from the applicant/policy owner); when you visit one of the Allianz Group websites (where you are purchasing or renewing a policy) or through cookies and other similar technologies when you visit our website or download and use one of our apps; when you visit a website aggregator; insurance industry databases (external databases), such as Insurance Link managed by Insurance Ireland (not an exhaustive list), and other commercial databases; third parties involved in a claim (including a claimant, private investigators engaged by us, third-party insurer, and any third-party providers engaged with us to manage claims on our behalf, witnesses, solicitors, health practitioners, medical representatives and independent experts); from public authorities; communicating with us via social media platforms; requesting any information from us; other people who live with you in an insured property (if you are purchasing or renewing a home insurance policy); your agents, attorneys (under powers of attorney), nominated representatives (including health practitioners and medical representatives) and other third parties relevant to you and/or the policy, including your legal advisers; publicly available information including social media websites and online content, newspaper articles, TV, radio and other media content, court judgements; telephone calls, which we may record, analyse or monitor for insurance, regulatory, training and quality purposes; other records within Allianz if you have or have had other insurance policies with or sought a quote from us or another Allianz company or third party claims; Insurance Ireland (insurance industry's representative body) who operate a confidential phone line (Insurance Confidential) for individuals to report suspect fraud; and Credit referencing agencies.

Please note that once we carry out searches of third-party databases, such as Insurance Link, per example, these searches may return information relating to you, any named drivers, and your vehicle. This can include, but is not limited to, current penalty points, previous claims, vehicle write-off history, NCT/MOT status, vehicle modifications, and vehicle taxation or import details.

Where you provide personal data relating to any person under the age of 16 years ("child"), Allianz will seek to verify that you are the parent/guardian of such a child. 4. How we share your personal information with others

We may share your personal information with: the Allianz Group, our agents, third-parties who provide services to us (engineers, repairers, motor assessors, loss adjustors, expert appraisers, expert witnesses, legal experts, medical representatives and independent experts etc.), your mortgage provider (for home policies only if the mortgage is noted on the policy), your intermediary and other insurers (either directly or via those acting for the insurer such as loss adjusters or investigators); third-party insurer; providers of essential services (e.g. telecommunications, postal/courier providers, IT service providers, software providers, card payment processor in their role as independent data controllers https://www.aibms.com/privacy/); other third-parties involved in administering your contract; regulatory bodies and law enforcement bodies, including the Garda (for example, where we are required to do so to comply with a relevant legal or regulatory obligations); reinsurers who provide reinsurance to Allianz (reinsurers will use your data to decide whether to provide reinsurance cover, assess and deal with reinsurance claims and to meet legal obligations; they will keep your data for the period necessary for these purposes and may need to disclose it to other companies within their group, their agents and third-party service providers, law enforcement and regulatory bodies); witnesses to any accidents/incidents to which you are involved; any party you have given us permission to speak to (e.g. your representative, a relative or a friend); any party named under your insurance policy; industry and trade bodies; and claimants and their legal or medical representatives. We may also share your personal information with research agencies and providers of market research services, including customer feedback surveys. Additionally, we may share your personal information with third-party service providers in order to send gifts to you; and to transfer event tickets to you (such as Ticketmaster - acting as independent controller).

The personal information you provide may be used by us and shared with other insurers as well as certain statutory and other authorised bodies for anti-fraud purposes: other insurance companies to confirm information provided (including where you are purchasing a motor insurance policy, for the purposes of validating any No Claims Discount) and to safeguard against non-disclosure and help prevent fraudulent claims; public bodies including but not limited to the Department of Tourism, Transport and Sport, the Department of Finance and the Gardai InsuranceLink, a centralised claims database operated by Insurance Ireland, to prevent and detect fraud (for more information see www.inslink.ie); the Integrated Information Data System (IIDS) to verify information including penalty points and No Claim Discount (NCD) to combat fraud; the Motor Insurers' Bureau of Ireland (MIBI) to assist in preventing or detecting theft and fraud and to pay claims; private investigators, tracing debtors or beneficiaries, recovering debt, managing your accounts and/or insurance policies; for vehicle history check suppliers/ databases to protect our customers, inform our acceptance criteria and assist in claims investigations; and other fraud prevention, ID verification databases available in the insurance industry and publicly available information to detect or prevent possible criminal activity or fraud, and the Irish Motor Insurance Database (IMID) for purposes permitted by law.

We will use your personal information to detect and prevent fraudulent practices and fight financial crime to meet our regulatory responsibilities. If you purchase a product from our website or other Allianz sales channel, we will also ask you for payment details. We need this information so we can process the payment associated with any product purchased. We collect information to help us improve our products and services and let people know about products and services that we believe will be of interest to them. This may be through a range of channels including via email, online advertising or social media. We will always do this in accordance with marketing preferences provided.

Where we obtain data from the above sources, the categories we obtain will be personal data or claims information relating to insurance profiling, claims handling and fraud prevention. We may need your consent for the processing of certain types of data and in these cases, we will inform you of such processing and the reason for this at the time consent is captured.

Each of the third parties with whom we share your personal data may have their own privacy notice outlining how they handle personal data. This includes, per example, data categories and type of data, details on their legal basis for processing the data, and retention period. We strongly recommend that you visit their respective websites to review their privacy notices and understand how your information is processed once it is shared by us.

5. The use of the Insurance Link database (managed by Insurance Ireland)

The InsuranceLink database has been created by Insurance Ireland and the self-insured claims task force to assist the Users in the detection and defence of exaggerated claims which may result in prosecutions for fraud. It contains details of claims made by individuals against insurance policy-holders or directly against self-insured members of the service. For more details, visit www.inslink.ie.

When do we use Insurance Link database?

When you request a quote or purchase an insurance policy from us, we may consult the Insurance Link database to check the accuracy of any information you provide about past claims. We may also review your previous claim history and, where relevant, claims involving third parties. If any records are found, we may contact the insurance company involved to obtain more details about those claims.
If it turns out that you failed to disclose a claim, we may exercise certain legal rights, such as cancelling your insurance policy and rejecting all claims, which could make it harder for you to secure insurance in the future.
Additionally, if a claim is made against you, we will share details such as your name, address, date of birth, and the type of injury or loss involved with Insurance Link database. This information will be accessible to other insurers. If another insurance company inquiries about a claim we have submitted to Insurance Link, we may share limited details of that claim with them.

6. Protecting Information Outside the European Economic Area

Your personal data may be transferred to and/or accessed from a country outside the European Economic Area ("EEA"), such as United Kingdom and India (not an exhaustive list). In such cases, we will always take steps to ensure that any transfer of information outside the EEA is carefully managed to protect your privacy rights. These transfers may involve Allianz Group companies and trusted third-party service providers supporting business functions such as, but not limited to, IT services, cloud storage (as described in the "What Personal Information We Collect" section), customer support and service quality enhancement, regulatory compliance, internal audits, and to process, manage and investigate the claim.

Such transfer/access within the Allianz Group will be covered on the basis of the Allianz Group binding corporate rules (BCRs) which contractually obliges each member to ensure that your personal information receives an adequate and consistent level of protection wherever it is transferred within the Group.

Certain Allianz Group entities outside the EEA may be granted limited, secure remote access to this data to perform these functions, as explained in "How We Share Your Personal Information with Others." This access is granted only when necessary and under strict security and authorisation protocols.

Where we transfer your data outside the EEA to a non-Allianz Group member or other companies providing us with a service, we will rely on:

- Adequacy decisions under Article 45 of the GDPR (e.g., transfers to countries like the UK), or
- Standard Contractual Clauses (SCCs) approved by the European Commission under Article 46 of the GDPR, or
- Other recognised safeguards such as participation in Data Privacy Frameworks approved by the European Commission under the Article 45 of the GDPR.

Theses assurances are well recognised certification schemes like Standard Contractual Clauses. We will only transfer your personal information to countries which are recognised as providing an adequate level of legal protection or where we can be satisfied that alternative arrangements are in place to protect your privacy rights. Any requests for information we receive from law enforcement or regulators will be carefully validated before personal information is disclosed.

Representation
If you provide information about someone else, such as an additional insured, we will endeavour to provide this Data Protection Statement to them. Where it is not possible to do so, you must make them aware of this Data Protection Statement and the terms of the insurance (including changes to the terms or processing activities) and encourage them to read this Data Protection Statement to find out more.

Online Information
When you visit the www.allianz.ie website, we may record information about your computer or mobile device, including hardware and software used, general location, when and how you interact with our websites. This information is used to note your interest in our websites and improve customer journeys.

How long we keep your personal information?
We will keep your personal data only for as long as it is required for your insurance contract, to handle claims and to comply with our legal and regulatory obligations as documented in our Records Management Policy. For the majority of policy data, this is seven years after the end of that transaction. Where we process your personal data in connection with an insurance quote, we retain your data for as long as the quote remains valid. The quote validity period varies depending on the line of business and type of insurance product. We recommend reviewing your quote documentation for details on your quote validity period. When a potential claim or actual claim is taken out on a policy, we retain the associated data until a full and final settlement has been reached. Once settlement is agreed, the data is typically retained for up to seven years from the date of final settlement. Where a child was involved the later date of seven years after the child has turned eighteen or the settlement date. In certain cases, we are obliged to hold onto records for longer periods, and we do so in line with our legal responsibilities. For more information on our data retention policies please refer to the “Contacting Us” section below.

Your rights in relation to your personal information
You have the right to request a copy of your personal data, and to have incorrect personal data about you corrected. You also have the right to object, to withdraw your consent for the processing of your personal data, have your personal data erased, or the processing restricted. Please note that withdrawing consent and requests for restriction/erasure may affect our ability to provide you with a contract of insurance. Some of the above rights are subject to limitations in order for us to comply with a number of legal and regulatory obligations. You have the right to data portability for insurance purposes (contact dataprotectionofficer@allianz.ie). You also have the right to lodge a complaint with the Data Protection Commissioner. For further information, please see the section “Contacting Us” below.

Automated decision making
As part of the provision of your insurance contract, including at quotation stage, Allianz may use automated decision-making. This means that we may use an automated underwriting model which uses your personal data to evaluate, analyse or predict the performance of your contract of insurance. Premiums are calculated according to the risk of loss, with the risk ascertained on the basis of profiling by way of a pricing tool and system. This avoids unfair discrimination. Certain motor policies also use Telematics (Allianz Safe Driver App) where driving behaviour is used to measure driving performance and to determine the nature and level of the risk associated with your insurance policy. In these cases, suitable safeguards are in place and you have the right to human intervention to express your interests and contest automated decisions. If you are making a claim, we may use profiling and other forms of automated processing to assess if your claim may be fraudulent and we may use your sensitive information, to carry out this assessment. For example, we may use your unspent motoring convictions for motoring insurance. We use automated decision making as it is necessary for entering into, or performance of your insurance policy between you as the data subject and Allianz as data controller, and other uses such as those authorised by law.

In the event that profiling determines you have a high risk profile, we may not be able to offer you an insurance policy. If you wish to review an automated decision with Allianz, please contact us on dataprotectionofficer@allianz.ie.

Use of Artificial Intelligence (AI)
We leverage artificial intelligence (AI) to improve service efficiency and accuracy, manage our business effectively, enhance customer experience and understanding of our products, across the various aspects of our operations.
AI is used to enhance the overall customer experience by improving service support through communication and interactions; in order to better support decision-making and to strengthen business analysis and boost productivity.
When developing and training AI solutions tailored to our insurance services, we may use personal information if anonymized data is not practicable. This use is part of a broader AI lifecycle that includes identifying business needs, collecting and preparing data, developing and training models, validating and deploying them, and continuously monitoring and improving their performance. Throughout this lifecycle, we maintain strong safeguards to ensure your personal data is handled responsibly and in accordance with applicable data protection and AI laws.
The legal basis for using personal data in this context is our legitimate interest in leveraging AI to enhance service quality, efficiency, and customer experience.
We are committed to being transparent about our use of AI. Human oversight is central to our AI enabled business processes, ensuring quality, accuracy and accountability in all stages of the AI lifecycle. If you have concerns about how we use AI to process your personal data, you can ask for more information on how these technologies affect your data.

Up to date information
In order for us to keep your information accurate and up to date, please contact Allianz or your insurance intermediary (where applicable) if any of your details change. For contact details, please see “Contacting Us” below.

Contacting Us
